Community Groups Visit Mason City Plant

“PROJECT REACH” READING PROGRAM

The partnership between Harding Elementary School’s Project Reach and Lehigh Cement Company has grown to be “the talk of the Mason City school district.” Six teachers volunteer their time for the after-school reading program and Lehigh provides financial assistance for software program, books, etc.

On October 4, approximately 20 students, along with Harding Elementary’s principal and the program’s teachers, came to the Mason City Plant equipped with notebooks and pencils, prepared for a question-and-answer session. Their project this year was how to write newspaper articles and Lehigh Cement Company was their subject. The kids presented their questions to Gerry McKerverve, Tom O’Neill, Jon Niedermayer and Terry Hunt.

MASON CITY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, MORNING ROTARY, AND LION’S CLUB

October was a busy tour month for the Mason City plant. In addition to the Harding Elementary School kids, we had NAM’s Quality Control/Technical Services group, Mason City’s Chamber of Commerce Leadership North Iowa group, and the Mason City Morning Rotary tour the plant. Of special note, Mason City’s Northern Lights Homeless Shelter catered breakfast for the Rotary group and they said the food was great.

In November Mason City’s Lions Club visited the plant. We are becoming quite the tour guides; it’s an excellent way for people in Mason City and surrounding areas to learn about what we do at Lehigh Cement Company.
